

Borderline Syndrome: Differential Diagnosis and Psychodynamic Treatment

Price: $35.00

Description

"Interest among mental health professionals has become increasingly focused on a very large group of patients who do not easily fit the description for so-called neurotic disorders, and for whom there has been difficulty in developing treatment strategies. This symposium offers major addresses by distinguished faculty on clarification of theoretical constructs underlying the borderline syndrome including ideological considerations and clinical formulations. Opportunities exist to hear exchanges among eminent presenters from various perspectives. {module[185]}
